Introduction

The idea for this bibliography was brought to the attention of professor Almaluces Figueroa, Chief Librarian of the Caribbean Regional Library (Library System, University of Puerto Rico, Río Piedras), by Dr. Humberto García Muñiz, Director of the Institute of Caribbean Studies (Social Sciences Faculty, Río Piedras). Professor Figueroa agreed to the project as an institutional collaboration for the conference "Freedom and Power in the Caribbean: The Work of Gordon K. Lewis," to be held in Jamaica this summer and for which the Institute of Caribbean Studies is one of its sponsors. The responsibility for the bibliography was then assigned to me and, though it was not to be a full time activity, I was allowed to spend as much time on it as necessary without neglecting my other duties.

Many hours were employed for the compilation of this bibliography that is far from comprehensive. The following sources were consulted: the online catalog of the University of Puerto Rico; all the general, social sciences and humanities databases available through the Library System of the Río Piedras Campus of the University of Puerto Rico; the online archives of the Jamaica Gleaner, thanks to a subscription paid by Dr. García Muñiz; the Caribbean Regional Library's card catalog; the Puerto Rican Collection's card catalog, the card index to Puerto Rican old journals and magazines; published bibliographies like The Complete Caribbeana, 1900-1975, by Lambros Comitas; and indexes, such as, CARINDEX (ACURIL; University of the West Indies); Caribbean Abstracts (Royal Institute of Linguistics and Anthropology, Department of Caribbean Studies, Leiden, Netherlands); West Indian Social Sciences Index: An Index to Moko, New World Quarterly, Savacou, Tapia: 1963-1973 (prepared by Shirley Evelyn); Guía a las reseñas de libros de y sobre Hispanoamérica/AGuide to Reviews of Books From and About Hispanic America (compiled and edited by Antonio Matos, years 1965, 1972-1990).

All items included (except as indicated) were checked for accuracy and completeness of pertinent information. In some instances, as in the case of some newspaper articles, it was necessary to quote from the item itself in order to identify its subject since by the title alone it was not possible to know. As regards articles in magazines and journals, information was provided, whenever available, about whether they were a translation, a chapter of one of his books, or whether they were also published in another journal.

Still there are many sources that must be consulted. First of all, the Puerto Rican newspapers of his time (El Mundo, San Juan Star, and others) have to be checked individually since they are not indexed (with the exception of the incomplete card index for El Mundo). The same applies for Caribbean newspapers and, even though the Jamaica Gleaner has its archives online, not all issues are available. Those missing issues must be looked up in some library or newspaper morgue.

Absent from this bibliography are letters and commentaries from newspaper readers on Dr. Lewis's articles appearing on Puerto Rican as well as foreign newspapers. Speeches, conference papers (apart from those published in proceedings) and other unpublished documents have not been included, with the exception of his doctoral dissertation; neither are Web pages or any other publication in electronic format. Awards, honors or recognitions, festschrifts, were not included. However, while I was checking the Caribbean Review (San Juan, PR; Miami, FL), I saw on page 56 of the Spring 1980 issue, an announcement for The Caribbean Review Award "to honor an individual who has contributed to the advancement of Caribbean intellectual life," and naming Gordon K. Lewis as the first recipient of the award. There was also another announcement in the Caribbean Studies Association Newsletter (Winter 1992 issue dedicated to Dr. Lewis) notifying that a Symposium "Gordon K. Lewis: A Caribbean Odyssey and Legacy," sponsored by the Research Institute of the Study of Man (New York), and other institutions, was going to be held on April 4, 1992.

One last item must be mentioned here since it is relevant to the activity for which this bibliography was compiled; it is the article by University of Puerto Rico professor Aarón Gamaliel Ramos entitled, "Desde el observatorio de las Indias Occidentales: Gordon K. Lewis y los estudios del Caribe," (La Torre, Año 14, 3ra época, núm. 53-54, julio-dic. 2009, p. 361-375), just published after the bibliography was finished.

There is plenty of research that needs to be done and, hopefully, there will be another updated or, preferably, a fully comprehensive bibliography in the near future.
