For Summer 2016 (with a chance to extend into fall 2016)

Are you a college student interested in entrepreneurship and/or building your professional experience? Would you like to do an internship with an innovative and globally-oriented startup right here in Puerto Rico?

Parallel18 is creating a pool of interns who are passionate about technology, innovation and entrepreneurship to assist locally-based, globally-oriented startups as part of the Intern18 Program. Relevant areas of interest include: sales, marketing, social media, accounting, web design, graphic design, software and web development, plus industry-specific areas that relate to our growing startups. Intern18 is open to juniors, seniors, recent graduates and graduate students from all disciplines for summer 2016 (with a chance to extend until fall 2016).

This is an amazing and unique opportunity for students to build their résumé, receive mentorship, grow professionally, learn about the local startup ecosystem, and glean visibility into what entrepreneurship is all about, right here in Puerto Rico. The internship may lead to full-time employment at one of the startups, or could serve as motivation for you to someday start your own company!
